ENGINEERS IMPRESSED WITH GREAT INDUSTRIES OF VALLEY

Trip Down River was Revelation to United States Engineers

CARNEGIE STEEL A BIG FACTOR

The United States Engineers, who for the past two days have been taking testimony for the purpose of gathering information concerning the proposed Lake Erie and Ohio River Canal, and who made an inspection trip down the Monongahela on Tuesday from Lock Four to Pittsburgh, were more than delighted with this latter phase of their trip.

As noted on Tuesday the Engineers were accompanied by a large number of distinguished and leading citizens of Pittsburgh, all of whom are interested in waterways improvement, and who have been taking a great amount of interest in the hearings with reference to the Canal.

The trip down the river was a revelation to Col. Judson and Lt. Col. Markham, both of whom expressed themselves in the most complimentary terms for the many courtesies extended to them during the time they have been here. Col. Judson said they have been assured that they will be able to secure all the facts necessary to a thorough understanding of the situation. As for the trip itself, he said there was nothing anywhere along similar lines to compare with it.

Col. Markham said what he had seen was a revelation, this being the first time he had ever had opportunity to make an inspection of the gigantic industries of the valley.

While neither Col. Judson nor Col. Markham would make any comment concerning their decision, it was the opinion of the members of the Canal Commission, as well as the Chamber of Commerce of Pittsburgh that the figures presented, as well as the impressions made by the river trip will have a great influence in bringing about a favorable decision for the Pittsburgh route for the canal.

A pleasing feature of the visit of the Engineers was the prominent part taken by officials of the Carnegie Steel company. Heretofore, or at least some few years ago, this great steel corporation did not look with much favor on the canal project. Of late, however, since it has become a factor in the river-transportation business, it has changed its policy in respect to the canal and is now one of its most persistent and enthusiastic advocates. This will also be the attitude of the United States Steel Corporation, as well as the other big steel corporations which have big business interests in this part of Pennsylvania.

START SUIT FOR SUM ALLEGED TO BE DUE

Suit has been brought by K. W. Daly Charles F. Thompson and Elizabeth Valera Hott, executors of J. J. Hott, deceased, against Joseph Sack, alias Joseph Neuse, of California, to recover $300, with interest from August 15, 1916. The statement of claim sets forth that on that date the defendant purchased from J. J. Hott a second-hand Buick automobile for $300. It is averred that the machine has never been paid for.

COURT SITTINGS CHANGED BY ORDER

By an order of court just handed down a re-arrangement has been made in the sittings of the court of Washington county for criminal and common pleas courts. The order becomes effective at the beginning of the November term of criminal court, beginning on Monday, November 8.

By this order during the week of November 8, cases will be called for trial in court room No. 1 before Judge J. A. McIlvaine and court room No. 2 before Judge James J. Brownson. During the two weeks commencing November 15 and 22, criminal court cases will be heard only in court room No. 1, before Judge McIlvaine, while Judge Brownson will be assigned to try civil cases in court room No. 2, before a traverse jury to be announced to try such cases during the two weeks commencing November 15th.

A similar arrangement will be carried out at subsequent terms until a further order is issued by the court. This will mean that criminal court will be continued into the third week, instead of the usual two weeks' term set aside to try such cases. It also means that common pleas court will be advanced one week, beginning on Monday, November 15, instead of Monday, November 22, as heretofore.

FOOTBALL SEASON OPENS SATURDAY

Saturday afternoon next the Charleroi High school football team will look with much favor on the canal project. Of late, however, since it has become a factor in the river-transportation business, it has changed its policy in respect to the canal and is now one of its most persistent and enthusiastic advocates. This will also be the attitude of the United States Steel Corporation, as well as the other big steel corporations which have big business interests in this part of Pennsylvania.

AGAIN ASKING BIDS FOR MONON. PIKE

The State Highway Department is making another effort to place the Monongahela Pike under contract for improvement. The department is again inviting sealed proposals for the reconstruction of 22,845 linear feet of one-course reinforced concrete and hillside vitrified brick pavement, to be 16 feet wide, in North Strabane and South Strabane townships, on route No. 181; also 16,137 linear feet of one-course reinforced concrete pavement, 16 feet wide, situated in Nottingham township, on route No. 181. Contractors have until October 13, at 10 a. m., to submit bids, when they will be opened, after which it is hoped the department will be able to award these contracts. The Monongahela Pike is one of the four highways promised to the county by the State Highway Department.

It is expected that some temporary repairs will be made to the river road between Speers borough and Allentown this fall, which will permit its use during the coming winter season.

PRE-WAR PRICES ON FORD CARS

Re-establishment of pre-war prices on all products of the Ford Motor Corporation, effective immediately, was announced on Tuesday by Henry Ford at Detroit. The price reductions range from approximately 14 per cent on motor trucks to 31 per cent on small automobiles.

Mr. Ford in a statement, said the time had come to call a halt on war methods, war prices, war profiteering and war greed. It may be necessary, said he, for everybody to stand a little sacrifice, but it will be most profitable, after all, because the sooner we get business of the country back to pre-war condition, progress, prosperity and contentment will occupy the attention of the people.

SECOND VICTIM OF AUTO EXPLOSION

Roy White, aged about 56 years, died at the Brownsville hospital on Tuesday from burns received on September 6, when the gasoline tank of his automobile exploded. His son, John White, aged six, was fatally burned in the same accident, dying on the day it occurred.

White suffered his injuries while trying to keep his little son from being burned to death. Both were rushed to the hospital. It was believed the father would recover, but his condition took a change for the worse a few days, and terminated fatally on Tuesday.

At the time of the accident, White had just completed soldering a leak in the gasoline tank of his automobile. The metal was still hot when he poured some gasoline into it. Fearing that an explosion would occur he dashed cold water on the metal and it let go. Standing a few feet away watching his father, the little boy seemingly received the full force of the blast. His clothes ignited and as he was enveloped in the flames his father rushed to him and tried to put them out.

Considerable property damage was done by the explosion a garage being burned and the auto entirely destroyed. Further damage was prevented by volunteer firemen.

COAL SUPPLY ACUTE IN OTHER CITIES

Pittsburgh, like Charleroi, is seriously concerned over the domestic coal situation and steps are now being taken in that city by operators and retailers to perfect plans whereby the people of the big city will be cared for during the coming winter. A meeting looking toward that end was held on Tuesday, at which time tentative plans for distribution of the available coal supply were made. It is proposed to see that all persons get some coal and that no one in the city suffers while the trade is being supplied.

When the local committees which will have the domestic coal problem for Charleroi is thoroughly organized and ready to function it is expected that splendid results will follow. Low, and that all householders who use coal will be able to secure their necessary supplies.

It is more important to have ample rural than congested urban populations. Already one-fifth of the American people are found in thirty-three cities.

LONG ODDS OFFERED ON HARDING'S ELECTION

Senator Harding became a 4 to 1 favorite in Wall street betting odds on the presidential election on Monday. One firm announced it had placed a wager $16,000 to $4,000 that Harding would be elected. This is one of the largest individual bets in the campaign. It is stated there is a large volume of Harding money, but little Cox money in sight. The supporters of the Democratic nominee are asking 6 to 1.

BOLD ROBBERY OF HANUS' TAILOR SHOP

One of the boldest robberies that has ever taken place in Charleroi occurred Tuesday afternoon, when a thief entered the tailor store of Albert J. Hanus at 605 Fallowfield avenue and took away with him a number of pieces of goods, valued at about $80.00. The robbery occurred between 3 and 4 o'clock, as near as can be ascertained, and at a time when the store was for a time unoccupied.

Mr. Hanus was away on Tuesday, his wife looking after the store. The only time she was away was to go out for a few minutes for a loaf of bread. It was at this time that the theft likely occurred. The man was seen by a woman from across the street leaving the store with the pieces of cloth hanging across his arm, and going down Fallowfield in the direction of Seventh street. The man was about 5 feet 8 inches in height, slightly stooped, and wore a striped coat with box back.

The same man had been in the store some time earlier in the day inquiring about a certain grade of cloth which the store did not have in stock. He may have been looking over the store with a view of making a haul, but this is only conjecture. Among the pieces of cloth taken were a blue serge, a brown check, and three pants' patterns of a brown shade. Mr. Hanus is offering a reward for the apprehension of the thief.

The loss was not discovered by Mr. Hanus until about 6 o'clock in the evening, at which time the police were notified.

AFTER DRIVERS OF OVERLOADED TRUCKS

Twenty-three persons alleged to have been responsible for overloaded trucks driven over state highways and city streets were held for court Tuesday night by Alderman Langsdorf of McKeesport. Their arrest was caused by an agent of the State Highway Department, who began a campaign in that district against overloaded vehicles which are said to have been responsible for much damage to streets and roads. The fines, if any, will revert to McKeesport. The cases will be heard in the common pleas court of Allegheny county.

Section 4 relates to reduction in existing rates for private branch exchanges to the amount of approximately 25 per cent; section 5 to conditions with reference to residential rates in Philadelphia and Pittsburgh; 6. Incidental and necessary changes in addition hereto and within the scope and principles provided in the foregoing changes may be made to more fully and completely carry out the purpose and intent of the foregoing suggestion of compromise and adjustment. 7. It is also further understood and agreed on behalf of the county.

Must Be Made on or Before November 1, on One Day's Notice

RESULT OF RECENT HEARINGS

D. M. McCloskey, Esq., who represented Charleroi and its citizens in this important proceeding, has received the report of the Public Service Commission of Pennsylvania, in the case of the United Business Men's Association of Philadelphia, and others, against the Bell Telephone Company, being an appeal from tariff rates filed by the telephone company last April. This report has been made a matter of record and on the 14th of September the Bell Telephone Company was directed to modify its tariff schedule mentioned in the report in accordance with the stipulations agreed to and filed in said proceedings; the revised schedule to be filed and made effective upon one day's notice to the Commission and to the Public on or before November 1st, 1920, and it was further ordered that the complaints be and the same are hereby dismissed subject to the reservation contained in said report.

The stipulation of Counsel and addressed to the members of the Public Service Commission, sets forth: The special counsel of complaints on behalf of complainants, and counsel for the respondent stipulate and agree and recommend that the foregoing complaints may be dismissed upon the following conditions:

2. The rates and classifications for business and residents' telephones shall be revised in accordance with the statement hereto attached, made a part hereof, and marked exhibit "B."
3. The charges heretofore made for air-line distance beyond the various exchanges on multi-party lines shall be as follows: Within a zone of two miles air-line radius beyond the base rate area additional charge shall be made; beyond this zone mileage will be added at the rate of $3.00 per annum for each two miles or fraction thereof, air-line distance.

Section 4 relates to reduction in existing rates for private branch exchanges to the amount of approximately 25 per cent; section 5 to conditions with reference to residential rates in Philadelphia and Pittsburgh;

6. Incidental and necessary changes in addition hereto and within the scope and principles provided in the foregoing changes may be made to more fully and completely carry out the purpose and intent of the foregoing suggestion of compromise and adjustment.

7. It is also further understood and agreed on behalf of the county.

LET US RETURN TO OUR MUTTONS.

Urging a return to the main issues of the campaign, the Republican Publicity Association, through its President, Hon. Jonathan Bourne, Jr. issues the following:

"Is it not about time to end the diversion of the Republican campaign by the feint that Governor Cox is indulging in? The whole Democratic record of extravagance, incompetence, internationalism, and Wilsonism is so absurdly vulnerable that a concerted drive by the forces of Republicanism would destroy it. But instead of attacking where the line is weakest the whole Republican line appears to be held up by a miserable little demonstration engineered by the Democratic candidate. By talking about contributions for campaign purposes he had created a diversion that is bringing much needed relief to the real issues of the campaign. Governor Cox has freed himself of the necessity for defending the seven-year record of Wilsonism, which he was finding it increasingly difficult to do, and now sees his Republican opponents temporarily on the defensive.

And what he is talking about is no issue at all, not even a little one. Former Ambassador Girard, the newly appointed Chairman of the Democratic Finance Committee, when asked how much the Democrats would collect, replied, 'Why not get all we can and call that the minimum?' Nobody has suggested that the Democrats were placing any limit at all on the amount they were trying to raise. The fact is they are going to get all they can, and make as hard a drive as possible to win the Presidency. The Republicans, too, are going to raise enough money to finance a comprehensive campaign. It so happens that the amount estimated as necessary is a little over $4,000,000, and not $15,000,000, as charged by Governor Cox. But both parties are going to educate the people by every means at hand. There let it rest.

"Governor Cox assumed the mantle of Wilsonism at the White House conference of some weeks ago, and he stands today as the advocate of every one of the malorous policies that has disgraced the government of the United States for the past seven years. If elected he will carry forward each and every one of those policies and drag his country further into the mire of internationalism, financial heresies and domestic unrest and discontent that have marked the administration of his predecessor in office. If Governor Cox has learned one thing more than another since his nomination it is that the people are sick unto death of Wilsonism and all that it signifies. He knows that his defeat is made doubly certain by an attempt at its defense. And that he must, at all hazards, divert his opponents from the real issue.

"Republicans must allow themselves to be diverted no longer. The road to victory is open. We must leave the blind alley into which Governor Cox has artfully guided us and attack him relentlessly and unremittently at the points where he is weakest. Senator Harding has properly ignored the ridiculous proceedings before the Senate Committee at Chicago, and has continued his dignified discussions of matters that have a real effect on the welfare of the American people. Let other Republican workers and writers do the same and soon the Cox contribution comedy will be remembered as but an entertaining episode of the campaign, and the attention of the voters will be fixed on the contest between Americanism and Wilsonism which they must decide on election day.

URGING WOMEN TO VOTE
Women in the mass have been so slow to qualify as voters that party leaders are alarmed and are urging them to come forward. They are truly enough that every intelligent and good woman should conscientiously do so because all the less intelligent and less well disposed women will be sure to register and vote, but one can see between the lines the anxiety of party leaders lest the opposition party succeed in inducing a larger proportion of women to go to the polls. Woman suffrage was thrust upon Maryland against the wishes of its majority, but even in Maryland this anxiety is noticeable. In an editorial urging the women to come forward, the Baltimore Sun says: 'The registration figures in New York, Maine and other States show that a very large part of the feminine electorate—almost 50 per cent in some cases—is either utterly indifferent or hostile to the new privilege. These women are like the proverbial horse that may be driven to water but can not be made to drink. They have been forced by a perniciously active minority of their sex into a position to which they were averse, and they are inclined to show their resentment by refusing to be dragged into the bossy sisterhood. If women vote this year, the reluctant women are the ones, above all others, who should do so, and it would be almost a calamity if they did not.'

Even Cardinal Gibbons, who consistently opposed woman suffrage, has given out a statement in Baltimore urging all women to go to the polls. 'It is their duty, both to register and to vote,' he says, 'and especially in the coming Presidential election. They should vote for the candidate who will in their opinion contribute best to the material and social progress of the State.' It is to be hoped that such exhortations will not fall upon many deaf ears, for there is much at stake.

KEEP THE LAW
Serious crimes committed by those in authority show that an average of one person is killed every 75 minutes in automobile accidents. This serious state of affairs has been brought about by those who have no respect for the law or life and it is with regret we note there are some of this class in our midst.

Accidents happen and the consequences are usually suffered by the people who break the law, but this is no satisfaction to the people who make the laws, or those interested in making the highways safe for the betterment of mankind.

Too many times parents break the speed laws permit their children to drive cars when they are under age; one person does wrong, others see it and think in terms of slang, 'If he can get away with that I can too.'

This attitude must be stamped out. Our public schools could do good work in this respect. Respect for the law is just as important as other studies. Teaching children to be law abiding citizens should be one of the principles taught at home, but since conditions have become so great improvement would very likely be made by teaching publicly that right should be done because it is right, not neglected because you 'can get away with it.'

RIGHT PUNISHMENT
The passing of the American Expeditionary Forces attracted little popular attention, though it was an event in its suggestions. We have read volumes of eulogy of the achievement at the end of the Civil War, when the two armies were soon disbanded and returned to peaceful life. But here was a far greater force, in a far greater war, mustered out with immeasurably less ceremony or notice. Perhaps it was well to avoid any special military display over it.

It certainly would have been well, however, to avoid the lasting and blistering shame which a negligent and forgetful administration incurred in the failure to fulfill its main and primary duty to the A. E. F. The break-down of the whole restoration programme, and turning out of tens of thousands of crippled soldiers to shift for themselves as best they could, must forever be a blot on our record. A single disabled veteran, begging or peddling street-calls on the street, because the Government failed to give him the aid which would have enabled him to engage in profitable industry, casts a shadow of discredit upon all the parades.—Harvey's Weekly.

New Jersey authorities report that despite the prohibition law, the number of drunken automobile drivers, or at least the number of those arrested and punished, has been twice as great in the first half of this year as in the whole of last year. We trust that that means merely that the police are now so much more vigilant, and the courts so much more severe. The Senate Commissioner of Motor Vehicles is quite right in insisting that every drunken motorist shall suffer not merely a fine, but a substantial jail sentence, if not revocation of his license. Such a person is the greatest possible menace to safety of the public highways.

plaintains that the foregoing compromise and adjustment is not in any way to be taken as an agreement of complainants to approve the principles and policies involved in the basis of the existing and proposed schedules, nor as an approval of any contract or other arrangement existing between the Bell Telephone Company of Pa., and the American Telephone and Telegraph company.

These matters, together with the questions involved in the increased rates, being in all respects left entirely with the Public Service Commission for its determination and being merely advisory on the part of the complainants with respect to the foregoing adjustment and compromise.

These specifications are signed by Charles K. Robinson, J. A. Gleason, Carl E. Gibson and C. B. Miller, special committee for complainants, and R. V. Murry, counsel for respondent.

Charlottesville is placed in Class D, which fixes phone rates as follows: Individual line, $60; 2-party line, $74; four-party line $48; multi-party line, $48; extension station, $12; P. B. X. Trunks, $60; P. B. X. Trunks, $80; service stations, $6.

The multi-party line rate will apply within a zone two miles air-line radius beyond the base area; beyond this zone mileage will be added at $5 per annum for each two miles or fraction air-line.

TAKE CONTRACT FOR BIG TOWING STEAMER
The John Eickel, Jr. Company of Pittsburgh, has received a contract for the construction of the largest tugboat in this district since the days of the steamer Jos. B. Williams. The boat will be constructed for the Western Kentucky Coal company, of Paducah, and will take more than a year to build. It will be 250 feet long, 50 feet wide, with a four-foot draft. The boat will be provided with six boilers to sustain a steam pressure of 225 pounds. The engines will be compound, with 21 inches high pressure, 45 low pressure, and a stroke of nine feet.

TAKES OVER HEALTH
BUREAU IN BEAVER FALLS
The State Health Department on Monday took charge of health matters in Beaver Falls, where considerable trouble has been experienced with water supply. Dr. Edward Martin, State Health Commissioner, notified the borough council that he had directed the engineering division of the Health Department to take over health matters of the borough until such time as the borough council would appoint a board of health which would properly function.

DECISION RESERVED IN AUTO LICENSE CASE
Argument was heard before Judge W. M. Hargest in the Daughin county court on Tuesday, in the mandamus proceedings brought by Paul Wolff of Pittsburgh to test the right of the highway commissioner to ask questions regarding automobile equipment and personal history of an applicant for a motor vehicle license. The action has been pending for some time. Mr. Wolff contending questions were beyond the province of the highway commissioner. The court gave no decision.

SAYS OWNER CANNOT TAKE LIQUOR OUT OF BOND
Judge Faris, of the United States District Court at St. Louis, on Tuesday ruled that private owners of whiskey, held in bonded warehouses, cannot remove the liquor to their homes without violating the Volstead prohibition enforcement act. Permits to move the liquor stored can be granted only where it is to be sold for medicinal purposes, the judge held.

HOW TO VOTE A "SPLIT" TICKET

The commissioners of a number of counties in Pennsylvania have sent to election boards copies of the election act of 1919, under which it is possible for a voter to split his or her ticket. While the process is simple, the new act has been little discussed, owing to the fact that it was passed to meet a condition in Philadelphia. It is applicable, however, to the entire state, and the voters who intend to "split" should read it in order that they may proceed intelligently and feel assured that they are not spoiling their ballot and losing their vote.

The act allows the voter to place a cross-mark after the name of the party of his choice, and then go over into another column and place a cross-mark after the names of individual candidates for certain offices of another party. For example, if a Republican voter wishes to vote for say a Democratic nominee for congressman-at-large and at the same time vote the remainder of the Republican ticket straight, he can place a cross-mark after the word "Republican" in the first column to the left of the ballot and then place a cross-mark after the Democrat's name in names of candidates for congressman-at-large. The election board must count such a ballot for Republican candidates for all offices except congressmen-at-large and for the latter office must count the vote as indicated.

SOUTH SEA SAVAGES REVEALED ON FILM

"Shipwrecked Among Cannibals," the record of shipwrecked film men among the head hunters of the South Sea Islands, is the film attraction of the Majestic Theatre today and tomorrow. For realism, it outstrips the wildest scenario ever drafted in make-believe land.

The picture shows how men sent to film a few nearly distinct volcanoes are shipwrecked on a savage island. They were able to salvage their cameras and take many close-ups of the fearful Kia Kia head hunters.

Native costumes are revealed in interesting style and the photographers succeeded, after many trials, in winning the friendship of the head hunters. It is one of the most thrilling films ever displayed here. The camera men were from the Universal Film Company.

You are cordially invited to attend our Fall Opening and display of all that is new in Fall Fashion Thursday and Friday September 23 and 24. Berrymans. 91-12

Mrs. J. Seddon 721 Fallowfield Ave. says: "I think a cold that settled in my back is what caused my kidney troubles. About a week ago my back ached a great deal and I felt nervous and dizzy. My head ached, too, and I was nervous. My kidneys didn't act right either and I also became dizzy at times. I purchased a box of Doan's Kidney Pills and they certainly helped me. TENER SAYS IT IS HARDING SURE

Former Governor John K. Tener was in Harrisburg recently on business and a visit among old friends. Talking on the political outlook he took the opportunity to pay a tribute to Senator Harding, Republican candidate. Governor Tener has had occasion to travel over the country considerably of late and is very optimistic as a result of his studies of the political situation.

After discussing state politics Governor Tener said: "From my observations I have no doubt the Republican candidate for President is rapidly growing in strength daily. I have just returned from the middle west and while there took opportunity to make a study of the voters on this very important question. In the Chicago district, in which the Senator made his first speech outside of his own home town, he was receiving by a tremendous outpouring of the people and with that real feeling of pride and respect in which a candidate for high office should be held. Senator Harding is just the kind of man the people want for president, and the type on whom the farmer, the man who toils and the business man who confidently rely for such consideration of their interests, as will mean for their lasting welfare and contentment."
